

Where They'll Play: A Construction Timelapse Of SoFi Stadium

By Heather, February 10, 2022

Rumor has it Sunday, February 13th is kind of a big day. Something about a football game and a halftime show (and big-budget commercials). But let's rewind the clock about six years to when the big kickoff was for construction on SoFi stadium (where said game will be played). What followed was 1,400 days of building the NFL's largest stadium. EarthCam captured it all in timelapse, recording 4 million images from dozens of camera angles. How cool it is to watch such massive buildings rise before our eyes in mere minutes.